

Happy

Birthday!

Lewes celebrates 375 years

The City of Lewes kicked off its 375th birthday celebration weekend, April 21-23, with the blessing of the cross ceremony, a legislative session at St. Peter's Episcopal Church and a rededication ceremony for the DeVries monument Friday, April 21. The next day, the city continued the celebration with a birthday party at the Cape May-Lewes Ferry terminal. The party included musical entertainment, games for children and food. Vendors marketing 375th memorabilia also were on hand to display their wares.

Autumn Falstad of Arden, 6, tries to hit the mark while playing pin the tail on the donkey while 375th volunteer Nicole Silicato-Miller offers encouragement.

Jillian Martin of Lewes, 6, gets a balloon pet from Sweet Cheeks the clown during the 375th party at the ferry terminal.

Local photographer and author Kevin Moore, right, signs his most recent book, "Lewes Delaware; Celebrating 375 years of History," for Andy McKay of the Delaware Bibliofiles in Wilmington.

The mayors of the Leweses, Jim Daly of England, left, and Jim Ford of Delaware, blow out the candles on the 375th birthday cake.

The Ebtide Quartet entertains the crowd at the 375th party.

Elizabeth Sparks of Lewes, 10, learns a magic trick from magician Don Fisher during the 375th party at the ferry terminal.

Jillian Martin of Lewes, 6, learns a magic trick from magician Don Fisher during the 375th party at the ferry terminal.